Landscaping | Paving | Retaining Walls

I have been installing Naturals stone products like random stone paving and walling, tiling, cobblestones and paving since I was an apprentice when I 1st started at Taree on the mid north coast of NSW back in 1988.

The stone we laid back then was Sandstone, Limestone, Granite and Travertine and others,

These products we are still laying today. Natural stone just does not seem to go out of fashion. However the products the Gold Coast Natural Stone supplies today are so much better than what was available back then.

I was recently in the Taree area over the Christmas break and when past some shops that I had paved before I left for the Gold Coast in 1993. This is a heavy traffic area and the pavers are perfect still. It just goes to show if you laid good quality stone correctly you never have any issues.

I started Gold Coast Natural Stone just over a years ago because over many years of laying good and bad products I know what and where to source the right products from. I have seen too many times people purchase stone thinking it is of good quality. 9 times out of 10 you get what you pay for. Cheap stone can be low or poor quality. (size variations etc). And vice versa. More expensive stone is not always better quality. I have taken the guess work out for you.

However with my many years of experience buying and laying stone I can see the difference straight away and will not purchase or supply poor quality stone. You always get A1 quality stone at the right price with Gold Coast Natural Stone.

My son Rueben is the Shanes Scapes main stone installer. He has been installing stone full time with me for 5 years after completing his apprenticeship. But he has been around these products all his life.

When you purchase stone from Gold Coast Natural Stone and get Shanes Scapes to install you will get a job that you will love.
